- Turkic-speaking Karaites (in the Crimean Tatar language, Qaraylar) have lived in Crimea for centuries. Their origin is a matter of great controversy. Most modern scientists regard them as descendants of Karaite Jews who settled in Crimea and adopted a form of the Kypchak tongue (see Karaim language).Others view them as descendants of Khazar or Cuman, Kipchak converts to Karaite Judaism. Tue, 07 Jul 2020
